

Conference Proceedings: Structural Changes and Their Impact on Hispanics

Joseph Spielberg Benitez

Occasional Paper No. 1

November 1989

ABSTRACT

This occasional paper contains presentations and responses delivered by distinguished Latino scholars at the Institute's first planning conference held March, 1989 at Michigan State University. The purpose of the conference and this paper is to delineate a meaningful agenda for policy oriented research among Latinos in the Midwest that seeks to understand the impact of structural changes in the economy on this population.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Joseph Spielberg Benitez is Research Associate of JSRI and Professor at MSU. His publications include a comparative study of rural revolts and Mexican workers in South Texas. He has done extensive fieldwork in Texas, Michigan, and communities near Veracruz, Mexico.